About the Artist

"Wunman Njinde"

I am a proud Aboriginal man, my mob is GUNAI KURNAI from Lake Tyers, Victoria Australia. I hand make traditional artefacts to keep my tradition and culture alive and I love to share this with the community. This is handmade Coolamon that is traditionally used by Aboriginal women to carry water and food, as well as cradling babies and shields from weather. Created by a traditional method calling scarring, these are carved out of the bark of gum trees and are a form of artistic and spiritual expression by Aboriginal people. I use Bee's Wax & Emu Oil to finish them.

Enjoy my Aboriginal artefacts hand made with love and care.
